The Paris Correspondent

Of the New York Weekly Review, Edmund Remack, reports the following interesting musical items:

I am told that Mdme. Parepa is to sing here in July. Is this true? I hope so for my own sake, as I have not yet heard, in Paris, so excellent and versatile an artiste.

The American Pianos at the Exposition have excited a great deal of astonishment, and especially the Steinway pianos have created a perfect sensation from the fact of their proving, in an irrefutable manner, that by the overstrung system every piano can be made with a perfection which can never be reached in pianos made after the old style of straight cords. Some time ago you remarked in your paper that the new patent pianos of Messrs. Steinway were destined to create a revolution in piano making. I can now tell you, without the slightest exaggeration or deviation from plain and manifest facts, that your prophecy has been fulfilled in the most emphatic manner. The majority of all European pianos exhibited are made after the Steinway system, and the largest and most respectable piano manufacturers, whose names I am ready to give you, acknowledge that the manner of making overstrung pianos has been so altered and improved by Messrs. Steinway, that their system is now universally conceded to be the triumph of the highest genius. Those manufacturers who have been most reluctant to allow that the Steinway pianos are built in a manner different from all other instruments, freely confess that they have been imitating the Steinway system for the last four or five years, and now ask permission to study the new patent which has made the Steinway piano the first in the world. The French manufacturers are also convinced that the Steinway system is the only one which will be applied in the manufacture of pianos in future; but it is natural that firms like Pleyel & Herz should fight bitterly against a system which has actually thrown them from the height of their reputation. Lively times are expected, and I shall inform you of the progress of the battle, which promises to be very interesting.

Ullmann is in town, looking brighter and even more handsome than when he delighted the citizens of New York by his appearance. He has engaged a troupe for America.

—A strange murder has just been committed at Fussey, France. A farmer named Emard, thirty-four years of age, having, without any reason whatever, killed his wife, a woman of thirty, has confessed the crime, and states that they lived on good terms, but that three mornings back, when he awoke, the idea occurred to him to destroy her while she slept. He accordingly seized her by the neck, and in spite of her struggles, strangled her. He afterwards went to an outhouse, intending to commit suicide, but his courage failed him. Emard, when arrested, made a full avowal as above and made no attempt at flight.

—A nice old gentleman of seventy-three was to be married recently in Springfield, Mass., but the lady failed to arrive from Wisconsin on the day appointed. A second day was fixed, and a second time was he disappointed. A third day was set, and then the bride appeared. The bridegroom, in a delightful state of palpitation, almost flew to the clergyman's, but found he was absent from the city. However, in the evening the clerical gentleman returned, and the twain, after all their vexatious disappointments, were duly made "one flesh." The bride is 47.

—An extraordinary sight was witnessed in the principal London streets recently. Rather more than a thousand of the most miserable wretches that ever wore the garb of humanity formed a procession and marched in silence from the neighborhood of Wapping and Whitechapel to the aristocratic quarters of St. James and Belgravia. Every man was in rags, and every form bore the unmistakable marks of privation and distress. A banner or two told their character and wants. There are forty thousand of these starving people in London.

MEMPHIS, May 17.—Emerson Ethridge, Conservative candidate for Governor, spoke in the Court Square, this morning. About ten thousand persons were present, including many ladies. He was very bitter against Brownlow, and showed the corruptions by which that party sought to retain power. He was followed by Gen. W. B. Stokes, who defended Brownlow and the Radical party with great warmth. He said Generals Grant, Sherman, Thomas and Sheridan were radicals, and they conducted the present reconstruction law. Both speakers admitted that the rebels who fought were quietly attending to their domestic duties and cared nothing for politics. All passed off very quietly.

The Cumberland Presbyterian General Assembly was employed to-day in hearing reports of Committees on foreign and home missions. Ten o'clock on Monday was set apart for the consideration of the question of uniting with the Presbyterian Church.

CONDENSED NEWS.

—James Poyner, who cut the throat of his cousin, Maria Holcroft, and then cut his own, in Philadelphia, on Thursday, was in a critical condition at last accounts. Miss Holcroft was in a condition to converse, and there is a good prospect of her recovery. Poyner loved his cousin very dearly and desired to marry her. She declined to have him, because of her youth, fifteen years, and her propinquity. Poyner slipped into her chamber and endeavored to commit an outrage upon her person. This he was unable to consummate, and in a moment of passion took from his vest pocket a small razor, with which he inflicted severe gashes on the neck and face of Maria, who finally broke away from him and ran down stairs. Poyner then applied the razor to his own throat, and gashed it up in a very unartistic manner, one stroke nearly severing his windpipe. He then climbed into the loft and hid himself to die.

—The Reformers of England held a meeting in London, at St. James Hall, on Thursday, called for the purpose of supporting a proper and well adjusted plan of household and lodger franchise. Some of those present were inclined to accept what are known as the Cabinet concessions on these points. John Bright attended and delivered an address. He argued very forcibly against the D'Israeli bill and its amendments, and showed that in mere justice to the will of the people, as expressed at this and other meetings, the Liberal members of the House of Commons should reject the measure altogether by voting against it unanimously at the third reading, and thus compel the Cabinet to remit the question of Reform to the people at large in the new.

—About two o'clock Thursday afternoon, the roof of the Buffalo Union Puddling Mill, ninety by two hundred feet, fell in, burying one hundred workmen in the debris. Four men were killed and fifteen dreadfully crushed. Killed: Chas. H. Milligan, George Pierce, Frank Foster and Jas. Murphy. The works were destroyed by fire last December, and had been rebuilt, and the roof was just being placed in position.

FROM CINCINNATI.

General Assembly of the Old School Presbyterian Church.

[Special Correspondence Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, May 16, 1867.

Most of the Commissioners to the General Assembly of the O. S. Presbyterian Church arrived in this city yesterday. They and a large number of citizens assembled at the Central Presbyterian Church, the place at which the Assembly is to meet, to hold a prayer meeting. The venerable Dr. Elliott of Allegheny city, presided and superintended the religious devotions of the evening. This prayer meeting was held in pursuance of a resolution of the last Assembly, and its chief object was to implore the Divine blessing upon the deliberations and doings of the present Assembly.

This morning, at 9 o'clock, another prayer meeting was held. Rev. Dr. Breed, of Philadelphia, superintended the services. A number of brief, stirring addresses were delivered, and the prayers were appropriate and earnest. One spirit seemed to pervade all present—the Spirit of Christ.

Dr. Marshall referred to several of the Churches in Pittsburgh as having lately shared largely in revival influence. He called attention to what he regarded as a significant and very hopeful fact, viz: That among those gathered into these several churches were many young men, who have gone to work for Christ in good earnest, beseeching sinners to come to Him and be saved. He also said that many ruling elders in the bounds of his Presbytery, who hitherto had scarcely ever opened their mouths for their Master, are now, with tears in their eyes, provoking one another to zeal in good works. He hoped that this working spirit would soon pervade all the churches.

Another Minister said that in the Presbytery he represented a very gracious revival of religion had been witnessed. Many congregations had their membership doubled. He attributed this wonderful work instrumentally to the fact, that all the churches within the Presbytery had covenanted together to pray for the Divine blessing upon each—to ask God to make every service signally successful.

Dr. Elliott delivered to his ministerial brethren a solemn and affecting address. He said he never expected to attend another General Assembly; that he felt his work was nearly done. He exhorted his brethren to be faithful in their work—to take care of the church, and to preach Christ and Him crucified—to preach Him earnestly, affectionately. The venerable man's white locks and tremulous voice gave the wholesome words he uttered peculiar emphasis.

SERMON.

At eleven o'clock a large audience assembled to hear a sermon by R. L. Stanton, D.D., the Moderator of the last Assembly. The choir, supported by a fine organ, sang a voluntary. The music was highly artistic, but it lacked melody, and seemed to be well calculated to dissipate from the audience the spirit of devotion. It would have been appropriate for a theatre. For a church it was a grand musical farce. Dr. Stanton announced for his text these words: "I determined not to know anything among you, save Jesus Christ, and Him crucified." The delivery of the sermon required about an hour. It commanded the attention of the audience. The sermon was most excellent. Among other things it discussed the duty of the ministry in the pulpit, affirming that they ought to speak out plainly and boldly on all questions involving human weal, no matter in what category they may fall. The sermon would not be very profitable to such weak-kneed Christians as cannot bear "political preaching." But we need not describe further, as the sermon is to be published for general circulation.

After the Assembly was constituted an election was had for Moderator, which resulted in the choice of Rev. P. D. Gurley, D. D, of Washington City. Dr. Howard, of your city, was his competitor, and received a very complimentary note. He can be elected next year, and ought to be.

Rev. W. E. McLaren was chosen temporary Clerk. To-morrow we shall give our impressions of the Assembly.

The "Emersons."

This is the name of the excellent Pianos which have won hosts of admirers, because they are the cheapest good pianos that are made in the United States, and we opine, in any other country. The Emersons have the great merit of being cheap, while at the same time they possess the indispensable quality of being thoroughly good instruments. Their prices range so low as to place them within the reach of all who aspire to the possession of a piano, while at the same time, the excellent reputation they have earned, is an assurance to purchasers that in expending the small amount of money required to purchase one, they have secured an instrument fully equal to many of the more gorgeous and costly ones that find places in the parlors of their wealthiest neighbors. These instruments are a proof of how much that is truly excellent may be condensed into a piano whose price would lead us to expect only mediocrity. The cheapness of the "Emersons" is not the result of the sacrifice of the inherent qualities that make a good piano. All the essential qualities of first class pianos, they possess, and the manufacturer is able to afford them at so low prices as he does, by sparing the labor and material used on more pretentious instruments for ornamentation. These excellent pianos are for sale only in this city by C. C. Mellor, at his Music Rooms, No. 81 Wood street.

Suicide in Liberty Township—A Woman Shoots Herself.

A sad case of suicide occurred in Liberty township on Thursday evening, a woman named McChesney, through ill health and religious melancholy, being influenced to take her own life. Mr. and Mrs. McChesney have lived in Wilkins avenue for the past sixteen years, the husband being engaged as gardener for Mr. James Murdoch. The house in which they lived is a small two story brick, situated about one mile from the Fourth Street road, where the aged couple have lived for the time mentioned. For five or six week back Mrs. McChesney had been suffering acutely from neuralgia, and constant suffering had depressed her spirits very much. Recently, too, as we are informed, she had been deeply exercised on religious subjects, and her constant brooding over them had added to her melancholy. Still she did not seem, at any time, so seriously affected as to cause any apprehensions to her family. On Thursday the husband went to Mr. Murdock's to his work as usual, and, as is his custom, took his dinner with him, not intending to return before evening. About two o'clock in the afternoon the little daughter, aged about nine years, returned from school and found the door of the house locked. She knocked several times, and then, thinking her mother had gone out to visit some of the neighbors, she went up to where her father was at work, and remained with him until he came home in the evening. When Mr. M'Chesney returned, he sent his little daughter to several of the neighbors' houses to enquire after Mrs. M'Chesney, but none of them had seen her that afternoon. He then went down to the Fourth street road, and waited until about eight o'clock in the evening, supposing that his wife might have gone to the city or to East Liberty, and would come back by the street cars. He returned home without having learned anything of his wife, and tried all the windows of the house to effect an entrance. They were all fastened except one, a small window opening from a basement bedroom adjoining the kitchen. Through this Mr. M'Chesney assisted his little daughter, telling her to open the large window, in order that he might get in himself. Directly under this little window was the little daughter's bed, and on the other side of the room the bed occupied by the parents. The girl sprang in on the foot of her bed, and passed on out to the kitchen. When she came to the door she found it locked and the key on the inside. She then opened the door and her father came in. The fact of the key being left on the inside immediately aroused his suspicions, and procuring a light he commenced a search of the premises. On going into the bedroom he noticed his wife in a kneeling position, at the head of her daughter's bed, and her head leaning upon it. He then raised the body and found it to be perfectly stiff and cold. At first he thought she had burst a blood vessel, but subsequently, in looking about, he found a large horse pistol lying on the floor, which the husband had left some time before on a shelf in the kitchen, but which was not loaded by him at any time before. Examination showed that her death had been caused by a shot from the pistol, the ball passing through the heart. The right sleeve of her dress had taken fire from the discharge of the pistol, and was burned bare up to the shoulder. Coroner Clawson held an inquest on the body yesterday morning, and the testimony given contained the facts as they have been given. Mr. McChesney stated that the deceased must have loaded the pistol herself. A verdict of death by suicide was rendered. Mrs. McC. is represented to have been a most estimable lady, and her tragical end is mourned by a large circle of friends. She leaves, besides her husband and the little girl mentioned, a son and daughter, both married.

For Private Houses.

No family can afford to do without music. It is a luxury and an economy; an alleviator of sorrow, and a spring of enjoyment; a protection against vice, and an incitement to virtue. When rightly used, its effects, physical, intellectual, and moral are good, very good, and only good.

Make home attractive:—Music affords a means of doing this.

Cultivate kindly feeling, love:—Music will help in this work.

Keep out angry feeling:—"Music hath charms to soothe the savage breast."

Be economical:—Pleasure, recreation all must have, and no pleasure costs less in proportion to its worth than home music.

Make your sons and daughters accomplished:—What accomplishment is more valuable than music.

Fit your daughters to support themselves in the future, if need be:—There has been no time in many years when any young lady having sufficient knowledge to teach music could not pleasantly earn a respectable support in that way.

But some may say, "I have no ear for music, nor have any of my family." Probably not one of you has ever tried it faithfully. Perhaps your sons had no natural "ears" for reading, or your daughters natural hands for writing; and certainly unless they had learned these things they would never have been accomplished in them. Music does, in fact, come more naturally to most people than many other accomplishments that are next to universal; yet it it does not come to all without much time spent in careful cultivation.

The one best means of introducing music to the family, and inducing its cultivation, is to procure a good musical instrument. If none of your daughters or sons can play at all, yet, if they have a good instrument at hand, some of them will learn. In almost every family this will be the case. Buy an instrument, and try the experiment. If it succeeds only to a very small extent, the cost will be repaid many fold.

For this purpose, no instrument presents more attractions than the Cabinet Organ: considering its its moderate cost and general convenience, none is so available.

The introduction of this instrument has indeed added a most important resource to the possibilities of home music; the best, most important of all music. It is made in such variety of styles, and at such wide range of prices, as to suit the taste and means of all classes. Some of the largest sized Cabinet Organs, in elegant cases, five hundred to one thousand dollars each, are among the most exquisite pieces of furniture imaginable. Those at less prices are worthy a place in any drawing room. The plainer styles are only one to two hundred dollars each, while the Portable Organs are furnished as low as seventy-five dollars.

Mr. C. C. Mellor, is the exclusive agent for the Mason and Hamlin Cabinet Organs for Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania, and always has a splendid stock of them at his warerooms, No. 81 Wood street. If you want to purchase such an instrument, dont decide until you have seen and heard the Mason & Hamlin's—Send for a circular. Sent post paid.

Pocket Picked—Strange Affair.

A young gentleman of Allegheny, by profession a painter, a few evenings since was walking in the street in company with some friends. In the enjoyment of the conversation, and probably of the weather, too, night came fast and it was very late when he reached his lodging. The next morning upon looking for his watch, he was unable to find it. Attached to the watch was a valuable chain and a small gold locket, containing the picture of a lady friend. After many suggestions, he concluded that the watch had been stolen from him the previous evening; but where, and how he could not ascertain. On Thursday he received a small package from Philadelphia; charges, seventy-five cents. Upon opening the package he was surprised to find the locket containing the picture of his lady friend. Transported with joy, he forgot for a moment all about his watch and chain; but upon recovering himself, began to wonder where the most valuable articles, financially speaking, were. Upon examining the package more minutely, he discovered a small piece of paper, folded in the shape of a letter. This strange document set forth that as the picture was likely that of a sister, and therefore highly prized, it was returned. The thief thus concluded: "The watch was not worth 'chucks,' and I threw it away. The chain is very good, and I think I will keep it."

Bad Effects of Skylarking.

Night before last two young men, named John Conners and William Maginnis, both members of the Eagle Fire Company, started out to have a few drinks together and to have a general good time of it during the evening. After drinking as many as they thought sufficient, they came back again to the engine house, and, as is often the case when parties get aboard too heavy a cargo of whiskey, fell out about some trifling matter, and pitched into each other's wool. In the scuffle that ensued, Maginnis had his nose so badly disfigured that a doctor had to be called in to dress it for him. No suits will arise, as both parties after the fight were as good friends as before it.

We acknowledge the receipt, in pamphlet form, of a learned and brilliant discourse on the twentieth anniversary of the author's ministry in the Third Presbyterian Church, delivered Sabbath morning, January 6th, by Rev. John G. Brown, D. D. It is an able discourse and will abundantly pay a careful perusal, and will be treasured by the many friends and admirers of the zealous pastor.

THE COURTS.

District Court.

Before Hon. Moses Hampton.

Pittsburgh, Farmers and Mechanics Turnpike Company vs. the Oakland Railroad Company. Verdict in favor of plaintiff for $750.

A WIFE COERCED TO MORTGAGE HER ESTATE.

John H. Cassiday for use of Real Estate Savings Bank vs. Catharine Linder, impleaded with John Linder. Scire facias on a mortgage to recover $800. The defense set up was that the mortgage was given by Mrs. Linder under compulsion, and that her acknowledgment was not taken by the Justice separate and apart from her husband, he being present. The assignment of the mortgage to the Savings Bank was made on the same day, and at the same time, Cassiday seemingly having an arrangement with the Bank. The principal evidence in the case was given by a daughter of the defendant, who was present at the office of the magistrate, Alderman L. S. Johns, at the time the papers were signed. She stated that her father had threatened to kill her mother if she did not consent to the mortgage, and that he reproved her for shedding tears when about to sign her name to the papers; that on one occasion, whilst she lay ill, he threatened that she should not leave her bed alive if she did not consent to the mortgage.

H. C. Mackrell, Esq., was counsel for the defense, and in terms not more than sufficiently scathing, denounced the conduct of the husband, who is now in the West, having deserted his family. Mr. M. said the proceeding was by no means a homeopathic sedative, intended to quiet the wife in the enjoyment of her estate, but a regular old-fashioned allopathic dose of croton oil, intended to deprive her of it. Under the evidence, and the law, the jury could not justly avoid rendering a verdict for the defendant.

Judge Hampton stated, in his charge, that during his fourteen years experience on the bench, no case of the kind indicated by the evidence had ever before been called to his attention. In justification of Alderman Johns, who had testified that although the acknowledgment was in his hand-writing, he did not remember the circumstances, His Honor stated this was by no means remarkable. Mr. Johns was an old magistrate and had acknowledged many mortgages and deeds, yet it could not be supposed he would have a distinct recollection of each individual case. His Honor himself had acknowledged deeds, yet should they be presented, while he might recognize his hand writing, he could not, perhaps, remember the circumstance or the parties. According to the evidence, Cassiday was present when a requirement of the law was not complied with, viz: that the acknowledgment of the mortgage should be apart from the husband. The daughter testified that he was present, as also was Mr. Cassiday. If the jury believed that the wife was induced through fear of her husband to make the acknowledgment, it was the husband's act, not her's, even though he was not present, and Cassiday could not recover, although he may have been ignorant of the circumstances. If, as it seemed, Cassiday was acting for the bank as well as for himself, the bank stood in no better relation than he did. The mortgage and its assignment to the bank were, it would seem, executed at the same time, indicating that Cassiday had an arrangement with the bank. If the evidence offered was believed, and it had not been contradicted, the jury would find for the defendant. The jury so framed their verdict, without leaving the box, a result due to the indefatigable efforts of Mr. Mackrell. H. Bradford Todd, Esq., appeared for the plaintiff, as solicitor for the Real Estate Savings Bank.

United States Circuit Court.

Before Hon. Wilson McCandless.

Court met at ten o'clock Friday.

Philip R. Kincaid for use vs. John C. Bidwell. Plaintiff's counsel moved to suppress depositions taken by defendant, and a rule to show cause why the same should not be done was allowed.

United States vs. James Angell. On motion of defendant's counsel, the bond ordered by the decree of the Court, setting aside the sale in this case, was presented and approved.

Kennedy Marshall vs. Hydrick Brothers Oil Company. Plaintiff was called and nonsuited.

There being no other case for trial, the jurors were discharged, and the Court adjourned till to-day at ten o'clock.

Common Pleas Court.

Before Hon. Edwin H. Stowe.

P. Y. Hite vs. the West Pennsylvania Railroad Company. Motion for a new trial and reasons filed.

Stern & Stein vs. owners steamboat Urilda. Before reported. The jury failed to agree and were discharged.

Martin Busehert vs. Adam Hoffman. Action on a contract. Defendant had a ferocious dog, which bit a child of the plaintiff, who instituted a prosecution, but consented to withdraw it and settle the case upon the defendant agreeing to kill the dog, and pay the Doctor's bill and other expenses. Defendant failed to comply with his agreement, excepting that he killed the dog, and hence the action. The jury found a verdict in favor of plaintiff for thirty-five dollars.

Court adjourned till ten o'clock Monday morning, when a new jury will be in attendance.

American Piano Fortes.

It is with pardonable national pride that we refer to American piano fortes, and as an act of justice the credit of bringing them to the favorable notice of the old world is due to Messrs. Chickering & Sons. Their pianos were the first to stand the criticisms of the leading European artists, and to-day the superior qualities of the Chickering instruments are everywhere recognized, and numerous medals have been carried off by the firm over the heads of all competitors. Indeed so popular have the American pianos become that not only are the instruments of European makers driven from the market in this country, but the tide of exportation has been turned in the opposite direction, and the Chickering piano can be found displacing the instruments of the most popular manufacturers in the old world. The Chickering instrument is distinguished from all others by its characteristic purity of tone and its sympathetic, well balanced touch, by which every expression needed in music can be produced. Another distinguishing feature of the Chickering is the careful manner in which it is constructed. Every part, inside as well as out, is faithfully and thoroughly made, and will bear the closest scrutiny, whether it be of the highest or lowest priced. It is these characteristics which have rendered these instruments so popular, and for which they can be commended to those who desire to purchase a good piano. Mr. C. C. Mellor, Wood street, is the sole agent for Messrs. Chickering & Sons, and some of the finest instruments made by the firm can be found at this music room.

Boys Charged with Robbing the Mail.

Barney Burns and Murta, two of the youthful parties charged with a series of burglaries, and who were arrested a few days ago, have been held to answer another charge, that of robbing the United States mail.

It is alleged that Burns and Murta, some days before their arrest, broke open a postoffice box on Wood street, and abstracted, therefrom a number of letters. One of these letters contained a draft at sight for a considerable sum of money, drawn by Woodwell & Co., hardware dealers, on Wood street, and made payable in New York. The boys, ascertaining that the draft was of no value to them, returned it to the firm, stating that they had picked it up in the street. Mr. Woodwell, thinking it an act of honesty, gave them, as a reward, two dollars. It being discovered that their statement was false, the charge of robbing the mail was brought against them. They will have a hearing before the United States Commissioner.

Assault and Battery.

Thomas McCauley lives in the Eighth ward, and, among other things, keeps a goat about his premises. The other day the aforesaid goat went out on a foraging expedition, walked into Mr. Benjamin Campbell's house close by, and helped itself to a loaf of bread from the table, which was set at the time. Mr. Campbell couldn't catch the goat, to administer punishment to it, so he went for its owner, and, as McCauley alleges, knocked him down and abused him. Mr. McCauley accordingly made information for assault and battery, yesterday, before Alderman Strain against Campbell, on which defendant was arrested held for a hearing to-day.

Breach of Marriage Contract.

Suit was brought yesterday by Joseph Platte against Peter Ott, for the recovery of seven hundred dollars, in which amount plaintiff claims defendant became indebted to him in this way. On or about December 1st, 1866, Ott proposed to Platte that if he (Platte) would marry his (Ott's) daughter Mary, he (Ott) would pay him seven hundred dollars. On the first of February last Platte married the said Mary, and Ott having failed to pay, and still refusing to pay the amount stipulated as a "consideration" for taking her off his hands, Platte thinks it a clear violation of contract. Hence the suit. The parties reside in the vicinity of Sharpsburg.

The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, which organized at Cincinnati yesterday, promises to be an interesting convention. The GAZETTE is represented, and by mail and telegraph we shall publish correct reports of the proceedings.

Sad Accident in Birmingham—A Child Scalded to Death.

Thursday afternoon about three o'clock a little boy aged three years, son of Mr. Fisher, residing at the corner of Bedford and Grosvenor streets, Birmingham, accidentally fell into a kettle of boiling water, and was scalded so badly that he died about six o'clock in the evening. Coronor Clawson held an inquest on the body yesterday afternoon at one o'clock. From the testimony elicited before the jury, it appears that the little boy was playing out on the porch, and his mother brought out a kettle of boiling water and set it down there. The little boy went up to the kettle and commenced playing around it. By some accident or other the child fell backwards into the kettle, and before any person could take him out, was scalded so severely that death ensued about six o'clock in the evening. The jury rendered a verdict that deceased, Francis V. Fisher, came to his death on the sixteenth day of May, 1867, by accidentally falling into a kettle of boiling water, at the residence of his parents, corner of Bedford and Grosvenor streets, Birmingham.

Another Fatal Accident.

On Wednesday night an unknown man was killed by the 8:30 train from Pittsburgh, on the C. & P. R. R., in what is known as the "cut," three miles above Steubenville. The Engineer did not see the man, who was lying on the track, until the engine was almost on him. The train was running at such a speed it could not be checked until the man was struck, and cars, three in number, had passed entirely over him. The train backed and took up the body, which was so horribly mangled that recognition was impossible. Half the face was torn off and mashed, the body cut and limbs broken and stripped of their flesh. The remains were brought to Steubenville. The deceased was about thirty-three years old, five feet seven inches high, had on dark pants, black sacque coat and soft black hat. There was nothing on the body to identify him.

The Pittsburgh Gazette.

SATURDAY, MAY 18, 1867.

GOV. PERRY, of South Carolina, thinks the blacks will make unsafe citizens. Very likely there will be some trouble with them, as with other sorts of people; but the blacks must have their wits enlarged and quickened a good deal before they can produce as serious disorders as their white neighbors have maintained during the last six years. Half a million of dead men, fallen in the great contest, attest how unsafe citizens white people are when the fit takes them.

THE NUMBER OF DEATHS in the City of New York, last week, was 416; in Brooklyn, 144; total, 560; about one-fourth from contagious diseases. In no other city on this continent are work-people so badly housed as in New York, or at so high rent; and the result crops out in the mortuary statistics. But the peculiar prevalence and fatality of contagious diseases at this season of the year is significant and admonitory, not only for that vicinage, but for the whole country. It seems to forshadow the wings of Pestilence.

MASSACHUSETTS has repealed its Prohibitory Liquor Law; not because the sentiments of its people in respect to Intemperance have undergone a revolution; but from sheer perplexity as to the most effectual method of dealing with that evil. Moral Suasion, License, Prohibition, open and secret organizations, have been tried, and all in vain, so far as permanent general results are concerned. After all the efforts put forth, and notwithstanding multiplied instances of individual reclamation, the appalling tide of drunkenness rises higher and higher from year to year.

WHEN MR. B. F. BUTLER, in his place in the House of Representatives, charged the Administration with spoliating the diary of WILKES BOOTH, Judge HOLT put in an unequivocal denial, and in answer to a demand for the publication of what remained of it, admitted it ought to be given to the public, and promised it should be whenever the testimony of Mr. CONGER, who took the document from BOOTH's person could be obtained. Mr. CONGER having given his evidence before the Judiciary Committee, permission of Judge HOLT was asked to make a copy of the diary for publication. He replied, that the Secretary of War could only grant the request, who was applied to, and bluntly refused.

THE RECKLESSNESS with which public burdens have been increased in this country, under the impulse to speculation imparted by an irredeemable paper currency, is illustrated by the fact that the State Tax in New York, this year, is 7 133-208 mills on the dollar. Add to this the county, city or borough, and the other local levies, and the burden is heavier than is any monarchy in Europe, saying nothing about the enormous federal taxation. Doubtless, there is an uncommon amount of vitality and energy in the people of this country; but there is a limit to human endurance in burden-bearing, which many public men seem resolutely bent on ascertaining by actual experiment. While this is going on, much senseless laudation is indulged upon the capacity of our population to stand anything that may be laid on them. Surely, the path of wisdom and safety is not this way. Instead of boundless extravagance there is pressing need of rigid economy in the management of all public concerns, if we would avoid bankruptcy and dishonor.

THE MOBILE RIOT.

The dispatch of the Associated Press conveyed the impression that Mr. WM. D. KELLEY, in his speech, was arrogant and offensive. It now appears that this dispatch not only did that gentleman great injustice, but was written in sympathy with the rioters and for their exculpation. Full accounts from various persons who were present, show that Mr. KELLEY was not harsh or censorious; and that the riot was pre-arranged, for the purpose of breaking up the meeting, and taking his life. The rioters were apart from the audience; were fully armed; acted under the orders of a recognized leader; and aimed their pistols at the speaker. It was a manifestation of the same spirit that flashed out in the New Orleans massacre.

Col. SHEPHERD, commanding the United States forces at Mobile, requested Mr. KELLEY, who had resumed his journey, to return, and hold another meeting. This he declined doing, probably because he had appointments out for Montgomery and elsewhere, which would be broken in upon by retracing his steps. We regret that he did not go back, whatever inconvenience the retrograde movement might have cost him. The rights of loyal men—the freedom of discussion—must and will be vindicated in Mobile.

MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE.

Several Protestant clergymen have petitioned the Connecticut Legislature to adopt some more stringent laws to prevent divorces. They base their application on the doctrine that "marriage is a divine institution, and that its laws and the laws of divorce are ordained of God and are not left to human regulation." Precisely what these gentlemen mean by the phraseology they use, is not apparent; and, if put to question, they would find some difficulty in making an intelligible explanation.

The Catholic Church, long ago, following this sort of logic to its conclusion, entrenched itself at the three momentous points of human life—Birth, Marriage, Death,—and found therein the keys of power. Marriage became a sacrament, solemnizable only by the priest, at the altar.

The Protestant churches all declare marriage to be a civil contract. The laws in this country so proclaim it. Recently, in Ohio, heirship was claimed by children whose parents cohabited without the special sanction of priest or magistrate. The parents passed as husband and wife; and the Court decided their union to be a legal marriage. Among the Quakers the marriage ceremony is performed by the contracting parties, and consists, in its essence, in the avowal, before witnesses, of a purpose to live together as man and wife. "Marriage is consent."

It follows that when a minister of any denomination, in this country, solemnizes a marriage, he acts, in the purview of law, not as a priest, but ex officio as a magistrate. His function, rather, is notarial.

Though Protestant women no longer believe marriage a sacrament, and abstractly hold with their fathers and brothers that it is simply a civil contract, comparatively few would think themselves more than half married unless the ceremony was performed by a clergyman and they received a ghostly benediction. This is a striking illustration of the manner in which an usage often survives the ideas and sentiments in which it originated.

The Catholic assumption is that divorce is allowable only on the ground of adultery. These Connecticut Protestants seem to incline to the same conclusion. In all the States of the American Union, except South Carolina, a different rule has been adopted, with the general concurrence of christian people. In this, JOHN MILTON seems to have been a more potent authority than Popes and Councils. His exhaustive treatise "On the Doctrine and Discipline of Divorce," though no immediate fruit followed its publication, is manifestly destined to revolutionize the legislation of christendom on this topic.

Still, it cannot be denied that the ease with which divorce is obtained in some of the States, exerts a most demoralizing tendency. But the mischief has not its origin exclusively in the facility for separation. People marry in this country, in numerous instances, with less forethought than sensible people trade horses. It is not wonderful, consequently, they find themselves uncongenially mated, and take the readiest means for extrication from the miserable dilemma in which they find themselves. Nor is this all. Most women marry, not from love, but for a settlement. Men, in the exercise of arbitrary power, deny women education fitting them for business pursuits, and hedge their way about so that no sphere of independent usefulness and honorable ambition is open to them. Position, maintenance, comfort—every desirable and possible attainment almost—is made to depend on marriage. No wonder, therefore, women are led to it, frequently, not so much from affection as from policy! When men learn to be just towards women, the permanent relations of the sexes will be improved.

ANOTHER INVESTIGATION.

The recent pardon of Mr. KOHNSTAMM, of New York, who was convicted and sent to the penitentiary for numerous and vast frauds upon the national treasury, naturally excited considerable comment. In justification of this act of clemency it was alleged by his friends and those of the President, that he had made restitution of moneys wrongfully obtained. This statement was so vague as to suggest the inference, that if he had refunded at all he had only made good what he fraudulently obtained in the transaction of which he was convicted, and not in the thirty or forty other transactions relative to which bills of indictment were found, but not yet tried. In view of these other charges against him, he was careful, as soon as discharged from prison, to embark for Europe.

It now appears that the pardon was not obtained upon his penitence and restitution, but by enlisting in his behalf a number of prominent lobbyists and pardon brokers, male and female, who received such portions of the convict's money as satisfied their exhorbitant demands. How these creatures managed to influence the President each citizen will conjecture according to the ideas he entertains of that functionary's character.

There is a strong probability, however, that a Congressional Committee will take this case in hand, and lay all the facts relative to it bare before the public.

IN A SPEECH before the recent Manufacturers' Convention, in New York, Mr. HORACE GREELEY said:

"During the passage of the recent Tariff bill in Congress, I met a Western member who was voting on the wrong side. Said I to him: 'You, from Missouri, voting against Protection! What can you mean?' 'Well,' he says, 'these Pittsburgh men ask too much.' Said I, 'You say the iron men ask too much. Suppose the duty on pig iron was $100 henceforth, what would be the cost of pig iron to the consumers of this country?' 'Well, I suppose,' said he, 'the cost of making it.' 'Then,' said I, 'I've nothing more to say to you, [applause.] if you think that the $100 per ton would not advance the price beyond the making of it.'"

HOW TO BUY MEAT.—Dr. Letheby gives the following description of good and bad meats, with which his duties as sanitary officer in the city of London have required him to be very familiar: Good meat is neither of a pale pinkish nor a deep purple tint. It has a marbled appearance, from a ramification of little veins of intercellular fat; and the fat of the internal organs especially is firm, hard and suety, and is never wet, whereas that of diseased meat is soft and watery. The feel of healthy meat is somewhat elastic, and hardly moistens the finger. Diseased meat is soft and wet. Good meat has little odor, and this is not disagreeable, whereas diseased meat smells faint and cadaverous. Good meat bears cooking without much shrinking or losing much of its weight; but bad meat shrivels up and boils to pieces, this is due to the larger proportion of watery and gelatinous material, and the absence of fat and true muscular substance in the meat. Under the microscope the fibre should be clear and well defined, and free from infusorial animalculæ; while that of diseased meat is sodden and tupid, as if it had been soaked in water, the transverse streaks are indistinct and wide apart, and animalculæ abound in it.

HYDROPHOBIA.—Mr. Foster endeavors to throw some light upon the question of the length of time between the bite and the appearance of hydrophobia. He thinks that we may draw some such conclusions as the following:

1. That when a bite has occurred on the face a rapid appearance of the disease may be looked for; that a few weeks, probably four or five, will elapse before evidence of it is shown, and therefore that if those few weeks pass over safely, an immunity from the malady may be expected.

2. That when the bite has taken place on the hand a still longer time, from five weeks to a year at least, must be looked forward to with much anxiety. It may be that in the single case among the ten in which a year elapsed before hydrophobia occurred, there was some special reason for the delay.

3. That when the clothes have been bitten through before the skin is injured, some years may pass ere the disease occurs.

SMALL-POX IN LONDON.—Small-pox is prevailing to a frightful extent in London. Altogether there have been four hundred and sixty-two lives lost by this one disease in the space of thirteen weeks—an aggregate which may without exaggeration be spoken of as really alarming. It is most sad to reflect on the ignorant carelessness or the reckless folly of those who not only endanger the lives of their children and of themselves, but also jeopardize the lives of their neighbors and of the public generally, by neglect of the simple means available for reducing the baneful power of small-pox to a nullity. It is important that it should be known, moreover, that throughout the country—in large towns and rural districts alike—this loathsome and deadly malady is spreading, as well as in London.

IT IS a curious fact in medical history, that during the prevalence of cholera in Moscow, different plans of treatment were tried in the various large hospitals, but in one hospital it was agreed to employ no treatment whatever. The percentage of mortality was exactly the same in all the hospitals, including that in which no medicine was given.

—Du Chaillu says that when he remonstrated with the Africans on their intemperance they aswered, "Look at the gorilla; he drinks water," and left it to be inferred that they had been evolved and differentiated from the ignoble beast by many generations of strong drink.

The Indian War.

Colonel A. K. McClure, writing to the New York Tribune, from Omaha, Nebraska, under date of the 7th instant, says:

"I found the Tribune of the 1st inst., today, and was not a little annoyed at the startling dispatches from St. Louis about the so-called Indian war. I see that the Herald has had dispatches from Leavenworth, stating that General Augur was about to move west from Fort Phil. Kearney with 6,000 troops, and that 11,000 hostile Indians were encamped on the line of his march between Forts Phil. Kearney and C. F. Smith. I had just returned from a protracted interview with General Augur when I saw a dispatch in the Tribune correcting the Herald's sensation dispatch. The truth is that there are not 5,000 troops in all, and there are not the half of 11,000 Indian warriors who are hostile or doubtful in the whole of General Augur's department; and so far from being about to march from Fort Phil Kearney west, he will not get his troops to Fort Laramie before the first of June; will not start from there on his expedition before the 10th or 15th of the same month, and cannot reach Fort Phil. Kearney before the middle of July. When he does start from Fort Laramie, his force will consist, as I am officially informed, of the 2d Cavalry, the 30th Infantry, a battalion of the 18th Infantry, a battallion of Pawnee Scouts numbering about 200—giving him an effective force of about 2,000 men, nearly one-half of them mounted. It seems to be a small force to move against the Indians, according to the general conceptions of Eastern people about the Indian war. The impression prevails generally that the campaigns of General Hancock south of the Platte, of General Augur north of the Platte to the Yellowstone, and of Gen. Terry up the Missouri, are intended as a war of extermination against the Indians. Such is not the expectation of the commanders. If this were their purpose, the general criticism of the Eastern press on the folly of hunting Indians with infantry and artillery would be just. An army of 100,000 men could not exterminate the Indians in ten years, and I find military men, have more rational ideas than to attempt it, and humanity than to consider it necessary. If the Indians were now engaged in a general war, as is persistently represented by speculators and other interested parties, they could drive all the troops east of the Missouri in 60 days, or scalp two-thirds of them if they preferred. Not a coach or train could pass across the mountains, and yet the overland coach runs daily, and trains pass over all but Powder River route with comparative safety. Occasionally a weak train is captured on the Smoky Hill route—through Kansas, and much of Fort Laramie travel is not allowed, while the massacre of Fort Phil Kearney indicates a savage, implacable hostility in the Powder River region; but as yet the Indians have made no hostile demonstrations, looking like a general war, such as is anticipated in the East. That such a war may come, is barely possible; but if it does come, it will be more the fault of the Government Agents than of the Indians.

"But for the white tents which dot the bluffs near this place, the crowd of officers who throng the streets, and the hurried moving of military stores, with an occasional hearty curse you hear hurled at the Indian, no one here would suppose that there were any troubles on the plains. The trains and coaches are regular. Passengers come through the gory West, and laugh when interrogated as to the danger of Indians. They had not heard or thought of them, is the usual reply. Crowds go westward daily, and all things were to be considered but the danger of assault or capture by the Indians. All are well armed, and the men going westward, especially those who have been there, all consider themselves able to whip any number of Indians single-handed if they should cross their path. Families embracing mothers and daughters, start out by every train, and the far Western ladies make the trip unattended without any fear as to their safety. Gen. Potter will leave his headquarters at Fort Sedgwick (Julesberg,) with ten companies of troops, to protect the stage route and the construction of the railroads, and no apprehensions are felt about the interruption of travel on the Plains. True, a roving band of Indians may attack a small party at any time, but it is evident that no considerable body of hostile Indians can endanger the overland route for any length of time. Yesterday a band of them struck one of the stage stations between Julesburg and Denver, capturing the horses and burning the station. They are just now in search of horses and will likely to trouble the overland stations—much more likely to raid upon the stations than upon the stages, for they have no love for uncertain warfare, and they can never calculate the armed force in a stage until they draw its fire. They have met with several severe defeats by attacking stages, and they call them the "fire-wagons."

CONSUMPTION.—This Scourge of humanity, bane of civilization, with despotic sway has insinuated itself into all classes, grades and conditions of life. Neither age, sex or rank are exempt from its ravages. Its icy hand falls alike upon youthful innocence and hoary headed age. Some of the prominent symptoms are Cough Expectorant, Shortness of Breath, Irritation about the Lungs and Chest, Darting Pains in the Side and Back, Emaciation and a general negative condition of the whole system. It is authentically stated that one-fifth of the inhabitants of this country and Europe die of Consumption. No disease has been more thoroughly studied, and its nature less understood; there is no disease upon which exists a greater diversity of opinion, and no disease which has more completely baffled all medical skill and remedial agencies. Persons suffering from this dread disease or any of its concomitants, should lose no time in possessing themselves of the proper Remedy, in order that they may stay its ravages, and be restored to health.

The Rev. EDWARD A. WILSON'S PREPARED PREPARATION for the cure of Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds and all Throat and Lung Affections, has been in use over 10 years with the most marked success. The remedy, prepared under Mr. Wilson's personal supervision, also a pamphlet, containing the original prescription, with full and explicit directions for preparation and use, together with a short history of his case, may be obtained of the following reliable Druggist in this State, viz: JOSEPH FLEMING, 84 Market street, Pittsburgh, sole agent for Western Pennsylvania. my9:T:S

ALL THE WORLD OVER!

There are but few spots on our globe where HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS are not known; and, when known, appreciated.

In the United States and British America it has become a household word. As a protective against malaria, epidemic fevers, Fever and Ague, and other diseases produced by miasmatic influences, it stands far ahead of all other preparations, and is so considered by the most eminent physicians of the day.

In South and Central America, Mexico and West Indies it has obtained a firm hold on the minds of the people, and is implicitly relied upon as a certain preventive and cure for the many malarious diseases incident to those tropical regions.

In Australia, Tasmania, New Zealand and adjacent islands, its progress has been marvelous. Merchants, miners, farmers, manufacturers and squatters all endorse it. Thousands already has it saved from the pernicious effects of miasma, arising from the low swampy grounds so prevalent in those countries.

In China and the East Indies it is working its way with rapid strides, and is extensively used in the hospitals.

In Conservative Europe, even, its influence is being felt, and the day is not far distant when HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS will become in the old world what it now is in the new—a never-failing joy to the afflicted.

PINUS CANADENSIS.

A tree which is abundant in Canada, Nova Scotia, and the more northern parts of the New England States, and is also found in the elevated and mountainous regions of the Middle States, and abounds in medicinal virtues. Dr. Dowett, of Boston, has prepared a medicine from the sweet inside bark of the pine tree, called POLAND'S WHITE PINE COMPOUND, which is one of rare value in all debilitated states of the kidneys. It acts like a charm in all diseases of mucous membranes, enabling them to regain their lost tone and energy. It will be found well adapted to all those diseases, where Buchu has been tried and failed. It is likewise well suited to chronic coughs, and an infallible specific for old and debilitated cases of asthma. Many persons who at first only took a bottle of this medicine, to try, afterwards came back and got a dozen, or half dozen, which effected radical cures of diseases of the bladder and kidney of years standing.

Diabetes, a disease that has been looked upon as among the incurables, is immediately relieved by it. Notice the certificate of Asa Goodnue, published some time ago.

The United States Dispensatory, speaking of the pine, says: "It is prescribed in leucorrhœa, gleet, and other diseases of the urinary passages, in piles and chronic inflammation or ulceration of the bowels, in chronic catarrhal affections, and in various forms of rheumatism." It is exceedingly valuable in all gravelly affections, bloody urine, and where there is red and white sediment. It can be taken without interruption to one's usual avocations; and instead of sickening, produces a bracing, healthy power of endurance and vigor. Price, $1 per bottle; six for $5. Ask for POLAND'S WHITE PINE COMPOUND. For sale by the gross, dozen or single bottle, at DR. KEYSER'S Great Medicine Store, 140 Wood street. ap20

HUGH McKELVY, P. M.

Alleged Larceny.—John M. Curran lodged an information, yesterday, before Alderman Taylor against Con. Crawley, charging him with the larceny of twenty dollars. The two were fellow passengers on a train on the Allegheny Valley road, and arrived here on Thursday evening. The deponent alleges that during the trip the defendant stole the money from him. The defendant was arrested by officer Bell, and brought before the Alderman, but there being no evidence against him, the magistrate discharged him.

Larceny as Bailee.—J. B. Loux appeared before Alderman Strain yesterday and made information against J. H. Horn, charging him with larceny as bailee. The prosecutor is a member of the firm of J. B. Loux & Co., and the defendant was, until lately, in their employ as collector, &c. The prosecutor alleges that since Mr. Horn's connection with the firm ceased, he has collected about seventy dollars, which he still holds, and refuses to hand over. The defendant was arrested and held for a hearing.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
FRIDAY, May 17, 1867.

The New York stock quotations to-day, as reported by Ph. R. Mertz, were as follows: Gold, 137¼; Eighty-one bonds, 111¾; Five Twenties, 1862, 109¼; Five Twenties, 1864, 105¼; Five Twenties, 1865, 106¼; 5-20s, Consols, 107⅛; Seven Thirties, first issue, 106¼; do, second andthird issues, 105¾; Ten Forties, 99⅞; Cleveland & Pittsburgh Railroad, 72¾; Fort Wayne & Chicago, 96; Erie, 62¾; Chicago and North Western, 34¼; Chicago and North Western prefrd, 59¼; Chicago and Rock Island, 88¼; New York Central, 97¼; Reading, 103¾; Michigan Southern, 67¼.

Gold opened weak at 137, declined to 136¾, but closed a little firmer. The shipments for yesterday's steamer were light, and will not be as heavy to-morrow as last Saturday. Government bonds dull but firm; there is no demand for them at present outside of the eastern cities.

The share market is very heavy and dull, and there is a general disposition to keep out of the market until bottom is touched again. Money is more stringent, and banks are strengthening themselves for a tight money market, which is to follow on the redemption of the compound interest notes, and will be more severely felt at a time when a large amount of currency is needed to move the expected heavy crops.

Closing quotations received by James T. Brady & Co:

U. S. Sixes	1881	111¾
5-20's	1862	109⅜
"	1864	105¼
"	1865	106⅛
U. S. Ten-Forties		99⅞
U. S. 5-20s, 1865, January and July		107⅜
August Seven-thirties		106¼
June	"	105⅞
July	"	106⅛
Dec., Compounds, 1864		116¼
Gold		137¼

—The favorite argument of the bulls just now, is that the Secretary of the Treasury is going to be short of money, and cannot, therefore, contract the currency. This theory hardly tallies with the facts. Up to last week the receipts from internal revenue were $253,000,000; the seven remaining weeks of the fiscal year will probably add $35,000,000 to this, making the total receipts for the year ending June 30, $298,000,000. The total income will stand thus:

Internal revenue	$298,000,000
Customs (gold)	175,000,000
Miscellaneous, premium on gold, &c.	25,000,000
Total	$448,000,000
Deduct expenditures as per estimates	276,000,000
Surplus	$212,000,000

In other words, so far from being short of money, Mr. McCulloch is in a position not only to retire every dollar of the authorized $48,000,000 of greenback contraction, but also to pay off $50,000,000 of compounds as they mature, and to extinguish by purchase nearly $115,000,000 of other interest-bearing debt.

—A. T. Stewart & Co. have announced that they will offer at auction, at New York, a portion of their importation of dry goods, and, as is natural, such a movement of so large and successful a house has been the subject of much conversation in the trade. The Tribune, in solving the purpose of the announcement says: "The meaning of it is that the house comprehends the financial situation, and prefers to meet the present market rather than take less later in the season.

—The depression which has been felt in some branches of trade for some time has not been without disastrous effect upon individual houses in various quarters, and it is to be regretted that the mercantile community of our own city has not escaped. The suspension of a well-known grain firm, Crichton & Son, was announced yesterday. Their liabilities are reported to be about $140,000, but in view of the supposed assets of the house, the suspension may only be temporary. It is not presumed that this failure will involve any other houses, though that was the rumor during a portion of the day.—Baltimore Sun.

—It is said that the Treasury Department finds it a difficult task to withdraw from circulation the bills of failed national banks, and at the same time it is charged that the Laconia National Bank, of New Hampshire, having been chartered without circulation, the Comptroller has agreed to give it an amount of National notes equal to the bills it will collect of the suspended institutions. While this bargain is very doubtful, since the Comptroller of the currency has no legal power whatever to enter into such an engagement, it may be true, as is alleged, that the Laconia Bank is offering 2 per cent. on all notes of broken national banks retired to them. The scramble among the national banks for currency offers a new aspect of the working of the banking law which well merits to be watched. The speculators and banks that are offering 2 per cent. premium for broken bank notes will be likely to meet a deserved disappointment. If any new national bank notes are to be issued in place of those withdrawn, they must be distributed on some more just and equitable principal than that of rewarding smart banks and keen speculators.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
FRIDAY, May 17, 1867.

The produce markets continue dull and unsettled, and the feeling in commercial circles is by no means comfortable. Doubt and uncertainty in regard to the future has a tendency to produce stagnation in business at present, and everything hangs on the fate of coming crops. At this writing, the prospect for an abundant harvest could not be better, and if the expectations now entertained are realized, we will have made a very long stride towards a resumption of specie payments, and values generally will depreciate with a vengeance.

GRAIN—No Wheat in this market except what is in the hands of millers. Corn is a shade firmer, owing to more favorable advices from the east; prime Yellow, in the absence of sales, may be quoted at $1 to 1,05—sale of 2 cars on Thursday at $1. Oats steady but unchanged; we continue to quote at 60 to 61, on track, and 65 to 67, in store. Rye is in good demand at $1,65. No movement in Barley—but little offering.

FLOUR—Is quiet but firm with regular local sales at previous quotations. Spring Wheat may be quoted at $15 to $15,50; Winter Wheat at $16 to $17; and fancy brands at $19 to $20. Rye Flour, $9,50 to $10.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is steady with a fair demand, and regular jobbing sales at 9½c to 9¾c for Shoulders; 11¼ to 12¼ for Ribbed and Clear Sides; 15¼ to 15½c for Plain Sugar Cured Hams, and 16¼ to 16½ forr Canvassed do. Lard, 13c to 13¼. Dried Beef, 22½ to 23c, and Mess Pork, $23 to $23,50 per barrel.

BUTTER—Is about the cheapest thing in this market; good to choice fresh Roll is selling at 18 to 22c, and the supply is in excess of the demand.

EGGS—The demand is quite active, and fresh packed sold readily at 16c—some holders holding back in anticipation of better prices.

DRIED FRUIT—There is a fair local demand, but prices are unchanged—8 to 9c for Apples, and 12c to 16c for Peaches—quarters and halves.

GREEN APPLES—Scarce, and in good demand. We quote at $6 to $8 per bbl, for common to prime.

POTATOES—Prime Peach Blows are in steady demand, and we can report sales in store, at $3,25 per bbl.

SEEDS—The Seed market is dull, and with the exception of Flaxseed, which is in demand at $3, there is little or no inquiry.

HAY—Good to strictly prime baled Hay may be quoted at $25 to $28. Common is very dull.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
FRIDAY, May 17, 1867.

CRUDE—The market was again very dull to-day, but a single sale reported, 550 bbls. (36 gravity) at 7. Spot oil may be fairly quoted, at 6¾ to 7c, while for future delivery there is but little disposition manifested to either buy or sell, and there are no established quotations. At Oil City, according to our latest advices, there is little or no change, though, if anything, the tendency is downward. Notwithstanding the depression in the oil trade, past and present, and the doubt, uncertainty and confusion in regard to the future, we are reliably informed, that one of our most prominent crude oil brokers, has within the past few days purchased a beautiful gold watch chain, which it is rumored cost $150, and which he sports with great pomposity. The brokers may be able to afford fine chains, but we do not believe that those who have been operating in oil on their own account can stand any such extravagance.

REFINED—There was rather more activity manifested in bonded oil to-day, the transactions in the aggregate being unusually large, principally for late deliveries, but prices are no better. We can report sales of 2000 bbls, 500 each for September, October November and December, all at 31; 1500, 500 each for October, November and December, at 31; 1000 for September and October, at 30; 500 for August at 29; 500 for September, at 30; 1500, 500 each for October, November and December, at 31. Free oil is quiet and unchanged—small sales at 29@30 for prime light straw to white.

ARRIVALS—The following arrivals of oil were reported to-day:

W. P. Logan	2301	Lockart & Frew	3400
Dilworth & Bro.	2114	J. Wilkins	975
D. M. Edgerton	900

PITTSBURGH METAL AND BLOOM MARKET—WEEKLY REVIEW.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
FRIDAY, May 17, 1867.

There has been only a moderate business done in metal during the past week, the sales in the aggregate, being rather light, still the market is steady, and with only moderate stocks and a demand pretty well up to the supply, prices are maintained, though unchanged. We are unable to give a complete report of all the sales, several of the commission men, for reasons best known to themselves, refusing for the present to report their transactions. As a matter of course, they are "master of the situation," and can do as they please, report or not, but mill-owners, foundry-men and furnace-men are more interested in this matter than newspapermen, and if they are satisfied we have no complaint to make. To say the least, however, it smacks a little of selfishness, and exhibits a feeling of jealousy that should not exist anywhere, much less among business men, closely associated together.

RIVER NEWS.

The river continues to recede steadily at this point with seven and a half feet by the Monongahela, and eight and a half by the Allegheny marks. The weather yesterday was unsettled, though towards evening looked like clearing up, and a warm shine for a few days would be of great benefit to vegetation.

The Belle, from Cincinnati, is the only transient arrival we have to report. She will leave on her return trip to-day, and passengers and shippers should bear this in mind. Capt. Laughrey and clerk Chambers are both well-known steamboatmen. Messrs. Barnes and Collins are her agents.

Thus far, the following towboats have got out: Coal Hill, Coal Valley, Coal City, Leopard, Eagle, N J Bigley, and Diamond. The two last named boats go to Louisville; the Diamond to Memphis, and the balance to Cincinnati. The Lion will probably get out to-day.

The Lorena, Capt. Sam. Shuman, is now the only boat in port for St. Louis, and, as a matter of course, she will be the first one out. Capt. Shuman expects to get away not later than Tuesday.

The Julia No. 2, Capt. Wm. Coulson, is filling up steadily for Cincinnati and Louisville, and will probably be ready to take her departure this evening. Mr. J. H. Ghreist still retains charge of the office.

Capt. Lew Vandergrift, of the Argosy, has, or is about to contract for a fine side-wheel boat, to take the place of the Argosy in the Pittsburgh and Cincinnati Packet trade. Capt. V. expects to have it ready for the fall trade.

Parties in Louisville are about being organized to introduce petroleum or coal oil for fuel for steamboats in lieu of either coal or wood. It will work a revolution in steamboating on our Western waters, and save a great expense. From our eastern exchanges we learn that the projected experiments with petroleum as fuel, on the gunboat Palos have taken place, and proved eminently successful.

The Minnie left Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Wednesday, and the Ida Rees and Kate Putnam were advertised to follow on Thursday.

The Great Republic arrived at Cairo on Wednesday, and added four hundred tons of freight, completely filling out. The Richmond was there the same day and needed freight, but did not get any.

The Armenia, enroute for St. Louis, was at Cairo Wednesday, as was also the towboats A. J. Baker and Robt. Fulton.

A St. Louis telegram, under date of Wednesday, says:

River falling fast here and above. Receipts from the upper rivers are considerable; freight is in fair supply for New Orleans. The Glasgow left for the Ohio yesterday. The Sherman may leave to day. The Paragon is loading for the far west. The Republic left for New Orleans last evening with nearly a full cargo. The Nora left yesterday for the mountains with 200 tons, drawing thirty-nine inches, and and has fifty passengers, including sixteen ladies. The Leclaire arrived this morning from Sioux City. She brought the engineers and carpenters of the lost Mariner.

One of the heaviest of our steamboat companies, says a Mobile exchange, held a meeting yesterday, and elected directors for the coming year, making up the entire board of practical steamboatmen, not one of whom, we are told, but had served in some capacity on board, the majority having risen from the most subordinate positions to be builders, masters and owners of steamboats.

The Phil Sheridan has withdrawn from the Vicksburg trade. Her name was not calculated to prepossess the Southern people much in her favor. She will be put in the Upper Mississippi river trade.

It seems now to be fully ascertained that Capt. Swift, of the steamer Como, which was destroyed some weeks since by fire, while on a trip up Trinity river, Texas, was murdered by one of the crew, and the boat burned as a means to conceal the crime. It is said that the wretch accused of the deed has confessed to a comrade that he was hired to do it for $100.

The Louisville Democrat contains the following bit of choice and select reading:

The river reporter of the New Albany Commercial, tried to draw a pen portrait of us, but failed. He hasn't got sense enough to carry guts to a hog. If we had a dog and were to catch him barking at him, we'd kill him. He's worse than the itch. He's nothing. He's like one of Shakespeare's plays—"Love's Labor Lost."

THE SUFFERING POOR OF THE SOUTH.—From the following paragraph, which we clip from Monday's Memphis Bulletin, the people North may justly infer the stories about the suffering poor of the South are mythical. The Bulletin says:

The steamer Emma No. 2 came up from Vicksburg last evening, in charge of a military officer and a few subalterns. The Emma left Vicksburg with some eighty tons of supplies, with the design of distributing them gratuitously among the people along the river, who were found to be in distress. Nearly all to whom it was offered refused to receive it, and not more than one or two tons were given away. The river people say they desire no assistance from the Government. The Emma will return to Vicksburg to-day. Some were of opinion that the Government would present claims for it hereafter.

If the "reconstructed" are too proud to receive food from the Government, they ought to starve, and we sincerely hope the benevolence of private citizens North will be withheld until the suffering poor see the error of their ways, and learn more fully to understand the maxim, "When the cause is lost, words are useless." We do not vouch for the truth of the Bulletin's paragraph, but so long as Southern papers contain such assertions, just so long will the North, to a great extent, withhold its charity.—Cin. Gazette.

The Leclaire arrived at St. Louis from Sioux City on Wednesday, and the Belle-Vernon, from Pittsburgh, was expected to reach there on Wednesday night.

We extract the following items from the St. Louis Democrat, of Thursday: The Leclaire has probably terminated finally her Missouri river experience. She brought but little freight down and some passengers, including the two engineers, and the carpenter of the lost steamer Mariner. At Council Bluffs the Leclaire reported the facts about the Mariner disaster, and had nothing whatever to say about the Miner. The Leclaire leaves this forenoon for Cincinnati. Staff O. Palmer is her clerk.

There is an increase in the offerings of freight for the Upper Missouri. An agent remarked on 'Change that he had 25 tons for Benton. We heard it stated that a boat now loading was offered some freight at 8 cents; but could not take it, as she had a full cargo engaged, including some lots for Benton at 6½ cents. The increase in rates was to be expected from the rapid decline of the Upper Missouri to a stage verging on very low water.

The towboat Gipsy left for Grand Tower, a point eighty miles below St. Louis, with supplies for the Mount Carbon coal and Railroad company. This is an important enterprise, ably conducted by wealthy men. The company will, in course of time, have large and powerful towboats, which will rival the great Pittsburghers in taking coal to New Orleans.

MEDICAL.

CONSUMPTION!

It would take a man a lifetime to read the treatises that have been written upon this important subject, and if a sick man were to attempt it he would make himself worse by the reading, and die before he got half through. The symptoms of the disease are, hacking cough, expectoration of matter or pus, pain in one or both lungs, chilliness, burning in the palms of the hands and soles of the feet, exhausting day night sweats, hectic fever, wasting of flesh or marasmus, sometimes expectoration of blood. These are the usual outward symptoms, apparent not only to the observing physician, but to the patient's friends. There are, however, more important symptoms than these, which are only made manifest by auscultation and percussion, terms which mean, in a medical sense, thumping and listening, and they are employed outwardly in order to ascertain what is going on inside of the cavity of the chest. The signs or symptoms elicited in this way are almost surely demonstrate the true and exact condition of the respiratory organs. A perfect auscultator can not fail in ascertaining whether the Lungs are acting naturally or not. Hence it is the best method of examining the lungs. Their actual condition once discovered, the appropriate treatment is more rapidly arrived at, and every diseased part more completely under the influence of appropriate remedies. We have long [illegible] the opinion that consumption or [illegible] [illegible] arteries, in [illegible] deposits it in the lungs, or elsewhere in the body, just as calculi or stone is deposited in the bladder, a small particle of which attracts other particles, until it becomes of such offense to the natural functions as to bring on inflammatory action, which action, if it could, would carry it out of the system, and which could have been easily done in the beginning of such disease. Dr. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP is a complete and perfect cure in the forming stage of lung disease. It acts on the very principle we have stated above, by enabling the securing or carrying off organs to do a double share of work. Waste and repair are easily comprehended, and if the worn out material be carried off, and the renewing material of a proper character, there must be health and ease, the contrary of sickness and dis-ease. In many cases of consumption which have become settled, Dr. Keyser's Pectoral Syrup fails to cure, although it will do good in nearly all. He prepares a medicine called LUNG CURE or PULMONARY RESTORATIVE, which is a great tonic, and strengthens and restores the parts to be renewed, while it dissolves and carries out from the body those particles of worn out or extraneous matter, which only tend to clog or destroy it, by hindering the renewing material being deposited in its proper place.

PULMONARY CONSUMPTION, RESULTING FROM PLEURISY, CURED.

Statement of George Ford, carpenter, of No. 16 Sampson street, Allegheny City:

I took a violent attack of pleurisy, in May, 1866, which left me with a cough lasting all summer, wearing away my strength and gradually undermining my health. During this attack of pleurisy I had several physicians of the highest reputation in the city. After I had partially recovered from the pleurisy, I was advised to go into the country, which I did, and when there I called in a doctor, who told me my left lung was affected, and that if something were not done soon I would die of CONSUMPTION. I lingered on from this time until about the middle of June, my cough and lung disease gradually growing worse, and I weaker every day, and almost despairing of ever getting well. In this state of despondency, and knowing the general belief of the incurability of Consumption, and having heard of cures made by DR. KEYSER, and seeing his advertisement in the newspapers, I was induced in October last to call on the Doctor at his office, 120 Penn street, and had him examine my lungs with his "LUNG SOUND." He told me the upper lobe of my left lung was very much diseased, but he thought with great care and the perseverance in the use of his medicine I would get well. At the time I called on Dr Keyser my pulse was over one hundred and thirty beats in a minute, and I was generally prostrated, and had to cough night and day. I commenced the Doctor's treatment in October, with a feeble, broken constitution, and continued it faithfully until the present time. The Doctor's medicines helped me from the very start, and I could gradually feel myself getting stronger and my cough and expectoration lessening. I have gained greatly in flesh, and consider myself well; all the rattling of my lung has ceased, and my general health is in every way good. All my relatives and friends know of the advanced stage of my disease and my extraordinary recovery. One of the medicines given me by Dr. Keyser was a medicine called LUNG CURE which I took in connection with the other treatment.

GEORGE FORD.

PITTSBURGH, March 30, 1867.

ANOTHER CURE OF CONSUMPTION.

STATEMENT OF JOHN G. WIGHAM, OF TURTLE CREEK, ALLEGHENY COUNTY.

I was discharged from the United States army in January, 1866, on account of a wound in the head, from a shell, and a disease which the army physicians pronounced CONSUMPTION. I had a terrible cough and fell away in strength and flesh and was unable to do anything. Shortly after my return from the army, I made application to a physician of my neighborhood and, afterwards, to another in Pittsburgh of high reputation, whose remedies I used faithfully for five months, without any benefit whatever, but rather grew worse, and wasted in flesh and strength every day. In August, 1866, my mother took me to DOCTOR KEYSER, of 120 Penn street, whose skill in such cases like mine had been highly spoken of and put myself under his treatment. The Doctor examined my lungs very carefully with his LUNG SOUND, and told me that my left lung was badly diseased at the upper part, but if I was careful he thought he could cure me by following his directions closely, which I did from that day to this. I gradually improved under Dr. Keyser's medicines from the first week I commenced to take them, and my general health has improved, and my chest, where it was sunken away, and where it pained me, has become full and strong and free from pain. I can now do a full day's work, and take great pleasure in giving my testimony in favor of Dr. Keyser's treatment and medicines.

JOHN G. WIGHAM,
Turtle Creek.

PITTSBURGH, April 11th, 1867.

A case of five years' standing cured by DR KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP:

DR. KEYSER:—My wife has been afflicted with a cough and difficulty of breathing for five or six years, which, for several years back, had gradually increased in violence. The complaint has been hereditary, and she had been treated by several physicians without any relief. In some state of her case I procured some of your PECTORAL COUGH SYRUP. I bought the first time a fifty cent bottle, which relieved her very much; I then called and got a dollar bottle, which cured her entirely, and she has now no trace of the former disease, except weakness. I would also state that I used the medicine myself to a cold and cough. The medicine cured me by taking one dose. I express my entire satisfaction with the medicine, and you are at liberty to publish this if you desire to do so.

WM. WILSON,
Alderman, Fifth Ward.

Our son, JAMES PAINTER, some three years ago was afflicted with consumption of the lungs, for which he was discharged from the army. He was examined by four army physicians, who all agreed that he must die with the disease. We brought him to Dr. KEYSER, 140 Wood street, (now 120 Penn street,) who, after sounding his lungs, commenced to treat him, and cured him sound and well. He is now well and has been so for the past three years. Others afflicted in like manner can likewise be cured.
